APRIL DOCKET TO BE SHORT

ONLY 269 CASES SET FOR CIRCUIT COURT TERM.

TO CONVENE APRIL 9

Very Few Criminal Charges Listed for Trial.—Jury Is Called for April 16.

When the Nodaway county circuit convenes here Monday, April 9, one of the shortest dockets in recent years will face the officers of the court, and a large number of these cases were carried over from the January term of court.

Only 269 cases are docketed. The trial cases lead in number with 138. Eighteen paroles and eighty-seven equity cases have been placed on the docket, while only twenty-six criminal cases have been filed.

The copy of the completed docket went to the printer yesterday and should be out by the end of the week. Some more cases may be filed in which service is waived, but Saturday was the last day for filing suits for which fifteen days service is required.

The jury has been called for the second Monday of court, or April 16 when the criminal cases are scheduled for trial. The most serious offense listed for this term is a second degree murder charge against Loren Loren Baublitts, and this case is set for April 16. However, unless a change of venue is taken or the case continued, a special week for the trial probably will be set.

Although possession of liquor charges lead in number among the criminal cases, only five of these have been filed by the prosecuting attorney. One first degree murder charge has been kept on the docket pending decision of the supreme court, while three embezzlement cases and one of forgery are carried over against a man in the penitentiary.

The other charges listed are as follows:

Grand larceny, 2; wife abandonment, 1; child abandonment, 2; driving auto without state license, 1; sale of intoxicating liquor, 2; transportation of liquor, 2; common assault, 2; operating a car while intoxicated, 1; bogus check, 1; carrying concealed weapon, 1.

Eleven divorce cases are up for disposal. They are:

Thomas P. Shortle vs. Olga D. Shortle; Clarence Haggerty vs. Eulah Haggarty; Samuel Harris vs. Ruth H. Harris; Golda K. Booth vs. Charley R. Booth; Floyd Montgomery vs. Bernice Montgomery; Hattie Mae Melton vs. Alfred C. Melton; Esta Bell Bare vs. Charley E. Bare; Jesse Combs vs. Viola Combs; George L. Downing vs. Blytle Downing; Margaret Pickett vs. Frank S. Pickett; James I. Enders vs. Neva Enders.

Another criminal case was added today when Riley Martin of Quitman gave a $300 bond on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a 1928 state license plate.

Progressing on Road Work Near Burlington

Rapid Headway Made Also on Drainage District—Excavating for Bridges Completed.

Construction work on state highway No. 18 west of Burlington Junction progressed nicely the past week. The excavating for the bridges across the Nodaway river has been completed and several culverts have been built in places where the new road is to run.

A number of mule teams were brought into Burlington the latter part of last week by the Pioneer Construction Co. which has charge of the grading. Grading machinery also was brought in and a huge tractor to do most of the heavy work. However, grading will not start until the middle of the week.

Steel, sand and crushed rock were shipped in last week by the carload, and workmen and trucks were kept busy most of the week unloading the material.

The work on the drainage ditch west of Burlington Junction is fast drawing near completion. The ditcher is working both week days and Sunday and is moving along at a fast rate of speed. The S. T. Peterson Co., of Fairfax, which is doing this work, has purchased a new machine for it, and every day the bank is lined with onlookers as the dirt is excavated.

Dr. C. P. Fryer was a St. Joseph visitor today.

Prospective Pastor Here Tuesday Night

First Christian Church to Hold Reception for Rev. Robert W. Burns, Webster Groves.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert W. Burns of Webster Groves, Mo., will be given a reception at the First Christian Church at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. The Reverend Mr. Burns comes here at the invitation of the church and is a prospective minister to succeed the Rev. R. E. Musgrave.

This is the first definite action taken by the pulpit committee. They have for weeks been considering applications from several states.

The Reverend Mr. Burns is a young man, having been in the ministry about six or eight years. He has served in his present church for three and one-half years.

A musical program will be given, talks made by various members of the church, and the Webster Groves minister will speak.

A. L. Nash, president of the General board, urges every member of the church to be present for this reception.

NOT TO ASK INSTRUCTION

LOWDEN MANAGER SURPRISES AT MISSOURI CONVENTION.

CLAIMS 24 DELEGATES

Sixth District Added to Those Previously Listed.—5,000 Hear Keynote Address.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 26.—James A. Finch, Missouri Lowden manager, announced shortly before the state Republican convention got under way here this afternoon that no instruction would be asked for the seven delegates-at-large to the national Republican convention in Kansas City in June.

Finch previously had announced that instructions in favor of Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois would be asked. The announcement took many of the Lowden leaders by surprise. As a result of the Lowden sentiment in several district conventions in Missouri, it generall was believed outright instructions would be asked for the Illinois man.

Has 24 Delegates.

Twenty-four of the thirty-two district delegates either have been instructed for Lowden in district conventions or were known to have been favorable to his nomination. There was so much sentiment for the Illinois man that it was thought possible a resolution might be introduced from the floor asking for an instructed delegation.

Lowden's cause was given impetus when it was reliably reported that the two delegates from the sixth district would support him for the Presidential nomination. The Hoover camp had previously been claiming the sixth district delegates.

Six delegates, three of them from St. Louis, are classified for Hoover, although they have not been instructed for him. Two others from the fourth district, namely, William F. Phares of Maryville and Bert Voorhees of St. Joseph, have not aligned with any Presidential candidate, according to reports, but are opposed to Lowden.

Mayor Kiel Presides.

The convention was called to order by Henry W. Kiel of St. Louis, chairman of the Republican state committee. The band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. C. Hely Mo-lony, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church of this city. Miss Mary Kilholand, secretary of the Republican state committee, read the convention call.

Mayor Louis V. Stigall of St. Joseph delivered the address of welcome and Finch, temporary chairman, then launched into his keynote speech. It was estimated more than 5,000 persons had been seated in Convention Hall when Finch opened his address.

Goes to Rochester.

Thomas A. Parrish who left Friday night for Rochester, Minn., to undergo examination at the Mayo clinic arrived safely and the examination has been started according to word received here by his sister, Mrs. R. E. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brittain of Melcher, Ia., spent from Friday to Sunday visiting Mr. Brittain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brittain, and Mrs. Brittain's father, W. T. Ross, and other relatives in Guilford.

TWO KINDS OF RULE IN CHINA

NATIONAL IS AUTOCRATIC; LOCAL GOVERNMENT DEMOCRATIC.

A MISSIONARY HERE

Frank Connelly Explains China's Present State of Upheaval.—Anti-Foreign Feeling Limited.

"The national government of China is the most autocratic in the world; its local governments the most democratic," it was declared here today by Frank Connelly, who has had more than eleven years experience as a missionary in China, and now is on leave of absence, to return to his field in August.

Mr. Connelly arrived in Maryville yesterday and will be here until Friday, conducting the men's class in the annual School of Missions of the First Baptist Church.

FRANK CONNELLY

The missionary explained China's present state of political upheaval as due to an attempt to establish a republic when only nine-tenth of the people could not read nor write.

"The hope of China is its Christian leadership, and that is what the missionary is trying to develop," Mr. Connelly said. "From that leadership must arise a stable government, China's greatest hope."

Mr. Connelly's work is at Tsining, Shangtung, in the northern part of China, back in the interior. In explaining his work ,the missionary said he was a "jack of all trades," there being all types of things for a missionary to do. He is commonly known as "The Bishop".

Preaching Smallest Part.

"Preaching is the smallest part of the work," Mr. Connelly said. Two boarding schools are operated, accommodating 200 boys and girls, in addition to twelve day schools caring for approximately the same number.

In Northern China from eight to ten million persons are starving to death following the flood of last year, combined with a drought, and Mr. Connelly pointed out the situation has been made no better by the political crisis. Relief work has been handicapped. As a result of the starvation, groups form into bandit organizations and pillage as the last desperate chance to live.

There is little anti-foreign feeling back in the interior," Mr. Connelly said. "And even the agitation in other sections is nothing more than the work of young students seeking to arouse the ignorant classes.

Mr. Connelly sees the ultimate goal to be reached by China as a nation, Christian and democratic.

Naturally Brilliant.

"The Chinese are naturally brilliant. Chinese students in universities throughout the world stand high in their scholarship. They are more willing to give of their time; they are used to fewer outside attractions."

The Chinese que is passing, only a few to be found in the rural sections. Feet binding is no longer a custom. Missionary schools will not permit it at all.

"Nine-tenth of the Chinese people live by farming," Mr. Connelly said. "The 3000-year-old method is used. Machinery has not succeeded hand labor. China needs an industrial life to progress. Until she combines industry with farming, the country will remain at the bottom of the scale of living."

Speaking of Christian development in China, Mr. Connelly said that back

77 DEGREES HERE SUNDAY; DOWN TO 39

Temperature Makes 38-Degree Drop Brink's Records Show—Precipitation Slight.

A drop of 38 degrees from a high temperature of 77 yesterday to the low of 39 today was registered by the government thermometer, J. R. Brink, official observer, said today.

The thermometer went one degree higher Saturday than it did Sunday. It dropped to 55 degrees for the low Saturday and was recorded at 49 for the low yesterday. The highest today was 42 degrees.

Precipitation was seven-hundredths of an inch early this morning.

SENATE TO BE A POLICEMAN

COMMITTEE TO KEEP TAB ON CAMPAIGN FUNDS LIKELY.

A RESOLUTION BY NYE

Greater Powers to Be Asked, and No Opposition Is Expected.—Few Charges So Far.

By Paul R. Mallon
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Mar. 26.—Preparations are being made in the Senate to police the coming presidential election.

Chairman Nye of the Teapot Dome committee announced today that he would introduce a resolution soon authorizing appointment of a special committee to keep tab on expenditures of candidates. The matter has been discussed by the various political interests in the Senate, and no opposition is expected to be offered to the resolution.

Because of campaign contribution revelations made in the oil scandal investigation, Nye's resolution will propose greater powers and more extensive surveilance than was undertaken by the Borah committee in 1924 and the Kenyon committee in 1920.

Worry to Both Parties.

The Teapot Dome disclosures are causing considerable worry to treasures of both political parties and all the candidates. The campaign is expected to be expensive. Introduction of radio and other modern campaigning devices undoubtedly will increase costs. And at this very time when more money is needed, wealthy contributors of both parties are becoming shy about advancing funds. They fear their contribution will subject them to Senatorial investigation and cause them worry.

The policing committee to be appointed probably will be composed of two Republicans, two Democrats and Senator Shipstead as a Farmer-Laborite. The resolution is expected to authorize an appropriation of $50,000 to enable the committee to subpoena witnesses and to move about the country inquiring into any charges which may be made. It will be authorized to start work in June as soon as the conventions are over.

Free of Rumors.

Thus far the pre-convention campaign has been remarkably free of rumors and charges of money expenditures.

The usual rumors have been circulated that money is being raised for selecting Republican convention delegates in the south. One candidate was reported to be putting money into the southern states to swing delegates from another candidate. Such reports are always whispered around before conventions, and no complaint yet has been made of any overt act.

A Teapot Dome Recess.

Washington, Mar. 26.—Teapot Dome hearings have been called off temporarily while private investigators of the Senate committee dig up evidence.

No committee session will be held before the latter part of this week, Chairman Nye announced. A session had been planned for tomorrow, but desired witnesses could not be obtained at that time.

A truce likewise has been declared in the Senate for the time being.

Senator Arthur of Indiana, who last week assailed Democrats for their part in oil matters, has agreed to delay another attack, scheduled for this afternoon. He will await return of Senators who are attending the funeral of the late Senator Ferris of Michigan.

Mrs. Glover Returns.

Mrs. Ernest Glover returned Saturday night after a several weeks' stay in Excelsior Springs.

GERMANS ON OCEAN FLIGHT

"AMERICA OR HEAVEN"

Westward Hop Over Atlantic to Be Started Tomorrow Morning If Weather Is Favorable.

Baldonnel Airdrome, Dublin, March 26.—Completing the first stage of a westward transatlantic flight to New York, the Junkers monoplane, carrying three Germans, landed here shortly after 4:32 p. m. (11:32 a. m. E. S. T.) today.

The 800-imile journey from Berlin, whence they started secretly this morning, was completed in a little more than nine hours. They started from Berlin at 8:08 a. m.

All Three to Make Attempt.

The plane was piloted by Captain Hermann Koehl, with Arthur Spindler, 37, former sergeant-major in Koehl's bombing squadron, and Baron Von Huenfeld, friend of the former crown prince, as passengers.

Both will accompany Koehl on the westward transatlantic venture.

Although their destination was unknown in Berlin until hours after the start, Baldonnel officials had made the field ready both for the Bremen's landing and its departure on the journey to "Mitchell Field or Heaven."

The monoplane made a beautiful landing. As it circled down a cheer went up for the fliers.

The plane had no rubber lifeboat but it had emergency rations.

It was at first thought that Fritz August Loose, another well known pilot, had accompanied Koehl and Von Huenefeld.

Koehl and Loose, both experienced pilots, announced last week they intended to make a trans-Atlantic flight this spring, stopping at Baldonnel.

Failed Last Year.

They attempted to fly to the United States last year, but their seaplane got as far as Horta, in the Azores. After three unsuccessful attempts to take off from the water, they gave up. The plane was too heavy.

Mrs. Koehl told the United Press she assumed "the Bremen was on its way to Baldonnel." From there, she said, "it will start on a trans-Atlantic flight to New York.

The flight started in utmost secrecy, even more secret than the start March 13 of the monoplane Endeavour which carried Captain Walter G. R. Hinchliffe and the Honorable Miss Elsie Mackay presumably to death.

Koehl and Loose had been making trial flights daily, supposedly for the purpose of concealing their real start. If they are heading for Baldonnel, they should arrive there about midnight.

McIntosh to Try Again.

London, March 26.—Unsuccessful in several previous long-distance flights, Captain R. H. McIntosh now is planning an elaborate trans-Atlantic flight attempt this summer, it was learned today.

Twice last year McIntosh failed in long distance projects. He started on a flight to the United States, but had to turn back because of heavy winds off the Irish coast. He also failed on a record flight to India.

This year McIntosh will use an all metal three-engined flying boat of the air ministry. He believes land planes are unsuitable for flights over the water and wants to emphasize the safety project. He intends a double and triple crossing of both the South and North Atlantic.

Ralph Antrim has gone to Sioux Falls, S. Dak., where he will learn the carpenter trade with an uncle, Ed Antrim. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Antrim accompanied their son to Council Bluffs, Ia., Saturday, where they were met by Ed Antrim, with whom Ralph Antrim made the rest of the journey to Sioux Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Antrim returned to Maryville Saturday night.

Richmond Mine Torn by Blast of Dynamite

Cage and Entrance Damaged—Belief Held That Striking Miners Set Off Charge.

Richmond, Mo., March 26.—A dynamite blast early today wrecked the cage of mine No. 2 of the Fowler Coal Company here and caused considerable damage to the mine entrance.

It was believed the blast was set off by miners who opposed enforcement of the 1917 wage scale of $5.00 a day. The Fowler mine opened three weeks ago on the 1917 scale and employed between fifty and sixty men.

Since the reduced scale went into effect pickets have been placed around the mine by the United Mine Workers. Tom Fowler, owner, said a week would be required to repair the mine top.

1,874,050 OUT OF WORK NOW

SECRETARY OF LABOR GIVES OFFICIAL ESTIMATE.

COMPARED WITH 1925

Shrinkage in Various Industries Is Put at 7.43 Per Cent, With Some Improvement Lately.

Washington, Mar. 26.—A partial survey of unemployment by the Labor Department indicates ,there are 1,874,050 fewer persons employed now than in 1925, Secretary of Labor Davis reported to the Senate today in response to the Wagner resolution directing a survey.

Davis said it would be impossible without large expense to make a full survey of unemployment, as the Senate resolution demanded. He formed his estimate solely by comparing industrial activity now with that of 1925.

There is a 7.43 per cent shrinkage in activities in manufacturing, transportation, mining, agriculture and trade, Davis stated. Therefore, as there were 25,222,742 persons employed in 1925, he deduces that there are only 23,348,692 now employed.

February Trend Upward.

The trend of employment was downward from April 1927, to January 1928, Davis reported, but the February report indicated there is now an upward trend.

Davis said in a letter of transmittal that his report "shows the present slump in employment, while not so extensive or grave as the estimates which have been generally circulated, is nevertheless serious."

"The factors," he continued, "which have brought it about are many; among them, the floods in the Mississippi valley and New England; the tornado which swept Florida and its attendant losses; the temporary closing of certain industrial plants; and a disturbance in the bituminous coal fields which has lasted for many months."

He also called attention to a total immigration last year reaching 252,023, and he said a considerable number of these were prospective laborers, while 2,000,000 boys and girls in this country were reaching the working age.

Public Building to Aid.

"Prompt relief for one class is due from the government's elaborate building program, and similar programs of states, municipalities and counties and from private building and construction," he added.

Davis submitted the following table which formed the ground for his deductions:

Total: Employed in 1925, 10,136,370; estimated Jan. 1928, 9,383,263; estimated shrinkage, 753,107.

Decrease of 7.43 per cent.

"No figures are available for the groups, agriculture, mining, clerical workers, domestic service and trade and it can only be assumed that they have been affected in a like degree," he stated.

Year 1925 as Average.

"The census of 1925 is taken as a base because the census of 1920 represents a boom year and while there was a tremendous slump between that and census of 1923, nevertheless between these periods there had been a recovery and the year 1923 brought an upswing which from the present point of view may be considered by

G. O. P. HITS BACK AT REED

KEYNOTE SPEAKER CHALLENGES "HONEST ELECTIONS" ISSUE.

DOUBTS HIS SINCERITY

Too Many Irregularities in Own Party Overlooked, Says Finch.—Asks Farm Candidate.

Baby Elephant Gets Spotlight.

St. Joseph, Mo., Mar. 26.—A four-foot baby elephant accompanied the St. Louis delegation to the State Republican Convention here today and was given a place on the platform.

It is the property of August A. Busch, wealthy St. Louis brewer, and is causing commotion among candidates, who charge it is monopolizing the spotlight.

St. Joseph, Mo., Mar. 26.—Repudiation of efforts to make 'honesty in government and elections' the issue in the national campaign, and caustic criticism of United States Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, Missouri, for not taking the stump against alleged Democratic election frauds in his own state featured the key-note address at the Republican state convention here today.

James A. Finch, Missouri manager of Frank O. Lowden's presidential campaign, delivered the keynote, asserting farm relief and flood control were the outstanding issues, urging endorsement of Lowden, and praising the "prosperity record" of the Republican party.

Republicans of the state met to select seven delegates at-large to the national convention. Thirty-two district delegates already have been selected, of which Lowden forces claim twenty-three. Backers of Herbert Hoover appeared in the minority.

Doesn't Condone Dishonesty.

Without referring specifically to the oil election scandals, Finch said:

"The Republican party does not condone nor excuse dishonesty on the part of public officials, nor fraudulent practices in elections, and no shifty politician can make them issues in an American campaign.

"We have been told by our most esteemed senior senator from Missouri that honesty in government and purity in elections will be the paramount issues.

"To the Republicans of Missouri this is a revelation.

"We little dreamed that he would ever join the Missouri Republicans in their battle for honest government and pure elections, but as the 'good book' says there is rejoicing in heaven over one sinner that repenteth. We should rejoice that he has joined us.

"Take Him on Probation."

"But lest he fall by the way-side in his new faith, I would suggest that we take him on ten years probation. This is urged because of matters and things that are common knowledge to us all.

"When Missouri had the Democratic yoke about her neck; when legislation was auctioned off on the capitol steps to the highest bidder; when the bribe-giver and the bribe-taker stalked the streets of our state capitol with no shame and little secrecy; when the Democratic party in Missouri was synonimous with dishonesty, graft and bribery; when a Democratic Lieutenant-Governor was required to leave the state to escape prosecution as a bribe taker—where was our senior senator?

"Did he take the stump in Missouri in the election following and demand the making of his fight in Missouri for honest elections, using the slogan 'every voter should have the right to cast one ballot and have that ballot honestly counted as cast'?

"Once again I ask 'where was the senior senator?'

"Did he support in that campaign the Democratic nominee for governor who was openly charged by prominent Democrats in the leading Democratic papers of Missouri with being the recipient of a stolen nomination?

OUR LOST SERENITY.

(Lloyd C. Douglas in the Atlantic Monthly).

Beyond question, the greatest need in contemporary American life is for the recovery of a lost serenity. The churches have the capacity, but not the disposition, to meet that demand. No other institution has either the disposition or the capacity.

Jesus set his cultus apart from every other inspirational appeal when he said: "Come unto me . . . and I will give you rest." This is an alluring promise; never more so than now.

It is strange that the churches, possessed of an inducement so intriguing to the human imagination, and maintained in their exclusive keeping, should have stowed it away, preferring to fill their windows with poor imitations of such gaudy delectables as other institutions are infinitely better equipped to display and distribute. It is an incomprehensible state of mind that leads our churches to conceal the one benefit of which they have an undisputed and enviable monopoly.

We think the people want folksy, chatty churches—mere social clubs surmounted by steeples. We have a notion that the public wants to be noisy and excited. We will continue to provide noise and excitement. We are mistaken. The people sincerely desire an opportunity to worship. It is the business of the churches to meet that demand. They have proved themselves inadequate to supply the need.

BARBS

Is it true that people who have Liberty Bonds are allowed to take a few liberties?

Chief Bacon Rind went to Washington to urge that the tribal rights of the Osage to oil lands be protected. If the Indians own any oil lands they'd better keep quiet about them.

Tomatoes have been substituted for beans on the navy mess schedule. What are they trying to do, take all the humor out of the navy?

There are four billion birds in this country, says a bird magazine. Anyone who is planting a garden knows this figure is far short.

People who think there are no big leagues in Europe should go over to one of those countries with a couple of thousand dollars and try to get along.

The cleanup in the oil industry ought to be postponed until we can bring the marines back after the Nicaraguan elections.

M'NARY BILL TO THE HOUSE

COMMITTEE VOTES A FAVORABLE REPORT.

EQUALIZATION FEE IN

Measure Already Favorably Reported to Senate.—Permits President to Appoint Board.

Washington, Mar. 26.—The McNary-Haugen bill, with the equalization fee included, was approved today by the House. It had previously been reported favorably to the Senate.

Chairman Haugen of the House committee announced he will seek House consideration after flood control legislation is passed.

As approved, the measure sets up a federal farm board to handle marketing of crop surpluses and provides a loan fund of $400,000,000 to finance operations. The bill authorized cooperatives to form "pools" or financial corporations, with state charters, to borrow from this fund.

President Coolidge opposes the equalization fee, but other provisions he criticized in his veto measure last session have been eliminated. The President is empowered to appoint members of the federal farm board directly, instead of being required to elect from a list of eligibles nominated by the farm organizations as provided in the bill last year.

Senator Will Go From Cleveland to El Paso to Take Deposition of Former Interior Secretary.

Philadelphia, Pa., Mar. 26.—Owen J. Roberts, special counsel for the government in the Teapot Dome oil cases, said today that Senator Atlee Pomerene would go to El Paso to take the deposition of former Secretary of Interior Fall. Senator Pomerene is in Cleveland.

Favor U. S. Help in Nicaraguan Polls

Liberals Parade Streets of Managua in Demonstration Favoring McCoy Law.

Managua, March 26.—More than 1,000 Liberals paraded the streets of Managua last night, passing the United States legation, in a demonstration in favor of the McCoy electoral law which would enable the United States to supervise the Nicaraguan election.

A mass meeting was held at the city hall. Perfect order was maintained by a small number of American Marines.

The Nicaraguan Liberals are strongly in favor of an American-supervised election because they believe that in a fair election they would win. The conservative faction led by General Chamorro is as strongly opposed to the McCoy measure, which became a law by the proclamation of President Diaz, a conservative.

Search for British Ship Proves Futile

American Vessels Unable to Trace Hussar From Position Distress Signals Were Sent.

Honolulu, Mar. 26.—American vessels searching for the tanker British Hussar have failed to find any trace of it, Commander L. M. Davis of the Pearl Harbor naval base informed the United Press today.

Commander Davis said the destroyers Ludlow and Burns and the mine sweeper Whippoorwill shortly after daylight today reached the approximate position from which the British Hussar was believed to have sent distress signals but failed to locate the ship, which had a crew of forty-four men.

The S. O. S. signals from the British Hussar did not reveal what misfortune had overtaken the ship and failed to give the exact location of the vessel.

Mrs. George Greenlee Dies Saturday Night

Pioneer Succumbs After Long Period of Illness; Funeral Held Today.

Mrs. George Greenlee, 78, died at her home southeast of Hopkins Saturday night, after a long period of poor health. She leaves Claude Grotey, a grandson, with whom she has been living since her husband's death several years ago, and three daughters, Mrs. Merve Satley, Mrs. Grant Mendenhall of Hopkins and another daughter of Bedford, Iowa.

Mrs. Greenlee is a pioneer of Nodaway County and has resided on a farm near Hopkins for many years.

Funeral services were held at Hopkins this afternoon. Burial at Hopkins.

Frank Wilfong Waives Preliminary Hearing

He Is Alleged to Have Participated in Stealing 98 Chickens Near Graham in January.

Frank Wilfong, formerly of near Maitland, charged with stealing chickens at nighttime, waived preliminary hearing in the justice of police court of Judge Joseph H. Sayler this morning and was bound over to the circuit court on a $1,000 bond.

He was unable to give bond at the time and was committed to jail.

Wilfong is alleged to have been in a gang of six men who robbed Maggie Pool of near Graham of ninety-eight chickens January 22.

He was apprehended last week at Omaha and brought to Maryville by Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Heifner.

McNary-Haugen Bill Discussed at Forum

Senator Ford Is Leader; Maze of Questions Causes Subject To Be Continued.

A discussion of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, led by Senator M. E. Ford, resulted in such a maze of questions at the noon luncheon today of the Men's Monday Forum, that the topic was continued over to another session.

Senator Ford announced he probably would not be in the city for the club's meeting next Monday. Accordingly George L. Wifley will explain the working of the Federal Reserve act, and Senator Ford will resume his discussion the following week.

Cross-State Air Mail Route Being Planned

Kansas City, Mo., March 26.—A new air mail leg linking Kansas City and Omaha appeared probable today. William Morton, postmaster here, said he received a schedule of new plans of the Postal Department at Washington which indicates direct air mail connection with the transcontinental airway, running through Omaha from Chicago west, will soon be established.

The plan, Morton said, contemplates a St. Louis-Kansas City and Omaha airway.

Plane Crashes Near a Crowded Highway

Chicago, March 26.—Sidney Sheridan, 25, was injured probably fatally when a commercial airplane in which he was making his first flight as a passenger fell 200 feet and crashed alongside a crowded highway here yesterday.

Scores of panic stricken motorists deserted their cars and ran to safety as the plane crashed two feet from the highway.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Burton were St. Joseph visitors today.

The Campaign Log

Missouri Republicans meet today to select seven delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention. Supporters of Frank O. Lowden seek a delegation instructed to the former Illinois governor.

Senator James A. Reed will speak tonight at High Point, N. C., on the first stop of his second speaking campaign. He will visit several southern cities, then go to the mid-west. Friends said he was cheered at his prospects of receiving the Democratic presidential nomination.

C. H. Betts, Lyons, N. Y., said in an interview that many big corporations were opposed to the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination.

California and Nevada Streams Are Swollen

Parts of Reno Under Five Feet of Water.—Other Towns Report Floods.

Reno, Nev., Mar. 26.—Parts of Reno lay under five feet of water today as the Truckee River, swollen to its highest stage in years, overflowed its banks.

Although no casualties were reported, damage will amount to many thousands of dollars.

Many residents were forced to move to higher ground.

San Francisco, Mar. 26.—Streams and rivers in California and Nevada today were swelled to the flood stage by heavy rains in the Sierra Nevadas and melting snows.

Several towns reported floods, although few suffered heavy damage.

Hoover Prohibition Stand Into Senate

Senator Neeley Criticizes Answer to Borah Questions.—Nothing From Lowden Yet.

Washington, March 26.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover's reply to the Borah prohibition questionnaire was the "sublimest height of epistolary humbuggery," Senator Neely, Democrat, West Virginia, told the Senate today in a speech assailing Hoover's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

"There is not a rum runner, a home-brewer, or a bootlegger who could write a less responsive or a more unsatisfactory reply than that which Hoover has written," Neely said.

"Until Hoover dictated his meaningless epistle the dry believed him dry and the wets believed him wet. Now after his evasive letter the wets believe him dry and the drys fear he is wet."

Borah, meanwhile, is awaiting the long delayed reply of former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois. Borah sent his questionnaire to Lowden Feb. 6 but has received no answer, save an acknowledgement from Lowden's secretary that the questionnaire was received.

some at least an incipient boom.

"Employment dropped again in 1924, advanced slightly in 1925, a little more in 1926, and dropped again through 1927.

"The year 1925 may therefore be accepted as an average recent year from which to take measurement, and it is herein made the base from which employment shrinkage has been computed."

Zero Votes in Missouri.

"When under Democratic rule in Missouri, precinct after precinct returned zero votes for non-machine candidates in the Democratic primary and several hundred votes per precinct for the machine favorites, where, oh, where, was the senior senator?

"When in 1922 the senior senator was a candidate in the Democratic primary, where in machine-controlled precincts in Kansas City his opponent received zero votes, did the senator then say that zero votes was an evidence of fraud?

"The senator might well answer this question:

"Is a zero vote a badge of fraud in Pennsylvania and a badge of honor in Kansas City.

"The Republican party does not condone nor excuse dishonesty on the part of public servants, nor fraudulent practices in election. The Republican party has always supported and always will continue to support those principles of common honesty.

Traitors to Both Parties.

"The unfaithful public servant and the election crook is neither Republican nor Democrat. He is a traitor to both his party and his country."

Finch closed his address with an appeal for solution of flood control at national expense and for election of a President dedicated to farm relief to place agriculture "on a parity with industry and labor."

Appealing for nomination and election of a "farm relief" President, Finch said:

"Now, when industry is prosperous, transportation healthy, our financial structure sound, and only agriculture is sick, the Republican party can be depended upon to call into leadership some one who, by reason of training and experience, has the ability, the courage and the desire to aid in the rehabilitation of the American farmer.

"The Republican party," he said, "has never yet called into leadership a throat specialist for a stomach disorder, nor hired a house-wrecker to build a ship of state."

TWO KINDS OF RULE IN CHINA

of the consciousness of the Chinese people is a belief in the One Great God, despite the fact they worship smaller ones such as the God of Wealth, the God of Mercy, the God of Rivers, etc.

Mr. Connelly said during the first seven years he spent in China he never was brought in contact with opium cases, but that within the last three years smoking of opium pipes has steadily increased and he has seen hundreds of them.

In Sympathy With England.

The missionary is in sympathy with the British occupation in China to protect its interests, amounting to millions of dollars. Mr. Connelly said the British has dealt justly with China in the present situation, although in the past they have created ill-feeling among the Chinese. He described the British as having "carried the brunt of things, followed up by other nations protecting their interests."

In remarks concluding his interview, Mr. Connelly listed China as a rich, undeveloped country, a conservative people, a slow-moving race, but with possibilities as a good solid, middle-class, which is the back-bone of a nation.

GIVES SERMON ON FRIENDSHIP

A MISTAKE TO NEGLECT IT, MITCHELL SAYS

SHYNESS AN ENEMY

Example of Christ Is Urged by M. E. South, Pastor—Cautions Against Selfishness.

Of all sad mistakes a man or woman can make, one of the worst is neglect of friendship, the Rev. R. A. Mitchell declared yesterday morning in a sermon from his pulpit in the Methodist Church, South.

The Reverend Mr. Mitchell took a short text from Galatians 1:5: "Who gave Himself."

"Reflective minds of all ages have talked about friendship and have seen in it the crown of life," the minister said. "It is a plain truth that Jesus saved men by making friends of them.

"Almost any human faculty," he warned, "can be neglected until it dies. Of all the sad mistakes which a man or woman can make, one is to neglect the heart. The beginning of all true living is to decide that at all costs we will enlarge and develop our power to love."

Shyness Not Modesty.

Mr. Mitchell gave shyness and reserve as two "enemies in the way to friendship." Of shyness, he said:

"We are apt to think this a very modest quality, the mark of an humble person. It is nothing of the sort. It is a mark of the person who thinks too much about himself. Being shy, we shrink from entering into a conversation because we might not say something up to the general level, or make some foolish remark. We want to shine but we are afraid we will make a failure."

Of reserve, he commented:

"Many people refuse to show their feelings out of a sort of sense of dignity. They dislike demonstrations.

"Others are reserved because they have received rebuffs, and they resolve to keep to themselves. Reserve of this sort is one of the greatest causes of social unhappiness. It makes life a cold and cheerless thing.

"We must not," the minister cautioned, "choke down the impulses which could produce words of appreciation and affection. If we do, life remains cold and dull when it ought to be warm and happy."

Over-Criticism a Fault.

Criticism was cited by the pastor as another enemy of friendship, but he pointed out that "if we could not criticise one another, we should have no standards and really could not help one another. I do not want my friends to be incapable of criticising me.

"But this critical faculty," he added, "is hard to manage. We can slip into the habit of seeing nothing but the faults of others. That means the death of real friendliness.

"I see nothing for it but that we should learn to make friends with people in spite of their faults. After all, their faults are probably no worse than our own."

Among dangers of friendship, Mr. Mitchell pointed to instances in which two persons become such close friends they "practically shut themselves off from other people." This, he said, occurs between two men or two women, and it is not long until something goes wrong with such friendships. The reason, he declared, is that they are selfish or jealous friendships, "breeding jealousy, heartache and unhappy emotions."

"A great many people," he continued, "are so set on certain friendships that they desire that they will not take the ones that are waiting for them. When they find they cannot get what they wanted, their lives are empty.

"Of course such a person is not seeking true friendship. He is seeking the distinction of being a great person's friend—seeking something for himself."

Test in Time of Trouble.

A time of trouble is the test of friendship, the minister said, adding:

"Those who come and stand in the shadow with us—they are our real friends.

The test becomes still more drastic when we have done wrong. Prosperous people seem to be surrounded by friends. Failures find that friends are few, and sometimes disgraced people look in vain for any."

Christ was a true friends in that he befriended the sinners, the hopeless, the weak and the desolate, the Rev. R. A. Mitchell said in closing. "You may preach or teach," he enjoined his congregation, "but you will only show forth Jesus when you help people to real life."

J. B. Judd, Frank Powell and Lem and Doyle King of Ravenwood were Maryville visitors today.

Lakin Praises Work of Sunday School

Far Easier to Get Results Through It Than Through Sermons, Christian Minister Says.

Strong endorsement of the Sunday School, or, as he prefers it, the church school, was made by the Rev. L. E. Lakin, pastor ad interim, in his sermon yesterday morning at the First Christian church.

The Rev. Mr. Lakin was speaking on "The Sunday School as an Evangelistic power."

"In a very peculiar sense" he said, "the Sunday school belongs to the church.

"We used to speak of the early morning service as the Sabbath school. Poor name indeed! We've been calling it the Sunday School. Nothing distinctive about that! Our people have preferred the term Bible school, but we have our Bible colleges ,and so that term is confusing. I like the term church school.

"In a peculiar sense the school belongs to the church, and the church school ought to be conducted in the interest of the church. It is not a rival institution of the church—it doesn't exist to be served. It's an auxiliary—a servant of the church.

"The special thought that I have in mind this morning is that of Bible school evangelism. The posibilities in this field are limitless.

"Our evangelistic efforts in the part have brought large results, but almost without exception the church school has paved the way for the evangelist. Where the church school has done her work, and the teacher has done his work, results may be expected and are common. But where that preparation has not gone before, results are meager, and are often more imaginary than real.

"The sermon has been a tremendous influence. I am proud of the ministry. But the preacher is not the all important factor. He has a work to do, a great work, and he has done it. But others likewise have a work to do and they must do it.

"The teacher has the opportunity to supplement what the preacher has said. And what an opportunity, what an audience! Not of all types, kinds or grade, but an audience specially selected—how easy to teach it! It is far more approachable than any promiscuous audience.

"I think a good motto for the church school would be: Private instruction adapted to the needs of each pupil.

"The church school is the logical preparation for the sermon. An hour for study and then the opportunity to put into pratice the things that have been learned! A chance to learn how, then a chance to do! An hour for study, then an hour for worship! Reverently I say this is a divine plan."

FAUST TURNS DOWN SENATE

PREFERS TO REMAIN IN HOUSE, HE ANNOUNCES.

REVIVES HYDE BOOM

Republicans Expected to Renew Pressure to Get Former Governor to Enter Race.

Washington, D. C., Mar 26.—Charles L. Faust of St. Joseph will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator but will remain in the House as the representative of the fourth Missouri district, according to an announcement made late Saturday night. In his statement, Representative Faust says:

"For the past several weeks my name has been used as a possible candidate for the senate. Many representatives men and women have addressed me on the question. To all of their assurances and suggestions I have given careful consideration.

"I cannot find it possible to agree that I should enter the contest. In declining, I express my sincere appreciation and gratitude to those who have so generously pledged their aid.

"I feel that my usefulness as a public servant just now lies in continuing—if my constituency so desires—my place in the house of representatives. Such a course fully meets my personal political desire and the people of the Fourth district have been so constant in their kindness to me that I cannot willingly and voluntarily break our present relationship."

Talks of Hyde Again.

St. Joseph, Mo., Mar. 26.—As a result of the refusal of Representative Charles L. Faust to become a candidate for senator, the name of Arthur M. Hyde, former governor, was brought to the front today as a possible candidate to succeed James A. Reed. Hyde has declared emphatically he will not enter the primary race, but with Faust out of the way, it is believed renewed pressure will be brought on the former governor to change his mind.

SPRING GARB SEEN AS SUN WARMS NATION

Balmy Sunday Brings a Fashion Parade in Cities.—Parks and Beach Resorts Popular.

By United Press

Spring styles made their debuts in abundance as warm sunshine bathed most of the nation Sunday.

Parks were thronged and roads filled with motorists. Easter costumes were shown on the fashionable thoroughfares in many cities.

In New York City a temperature of 69 degrees was reached at 2 p. m., Sunday. It was the warmest March 25 since 1910. Thousands strolled along the beaches at Coney Island and other seaside resorts.

Upper Fifth Avenue and Park Avenue were thronged with the socially elite, whose dress was a forecast of what the Easter parade will appear like two weeks hence.

In Boston the temperature climbed to the upper sixties and the fashion parade predominated.

Atlanta had some warm temperatures over the week-end, but a thunder shower in the late afternoon sent the thousands scurrying.

Thunder showers promised to put an end to the balmy weather in Chicago.

A windstorm cracked plate glass windows and kept people off the streets for more than an hour in Denver.

Gangland Quiet for Esposito's Funeral

Floral Offerings Vast as "Diamond Joe," Chicago Gun Victim, Is Buried.

Chicago, March 26.—Chicago's gangland and "Little Italy" are strangely quiet today as their members mingled with the city's leaders to pay tribute to "Diamond Joe" Esposito.

"Diamond Joe" was shot down last week. His funeral today probably will match the grandeur of gangland's greatest funerals.

Esposito rose from an humble immigrant to become a powerful politician. It was generally known he "traveled the roads of gangland," but he attained such wealth and popularity as few of Gangland's leaders ever knew.

For twenty years he controlled the "Bloody Nineteenth" ward. He was a candidate for ward committeeman when gangland's guns sent fifty-eight leaden slugs into his body last Wednesday night.

Today there was great doubt in the minds of politicians whether any one man might ever again rule the "Bloody Nineteenth" as did "Diamond Joe."

Thousands viewed "Diamond Joe's" body today as it lay surrounded with high banks of flowers.

His home was a veritable garden. Florists over the city said the demand for flowers had been exceedingly heavy, but they were prepared—"Little Italy" funerals always are well-ordered and elaborate.

The Modern Philosophy of Business

In earlier times the philosophy of business was summed up in the phrase, "Business is business."

Today men realize that it is something more. According to the modern philosophy, business is service, profit-paying service—for there is nothing sentimental in the modern definition.

The old philosophy was inadequate, one-sided, short-sighted. It ignored the fact that there are two sides to every transaction and that both sides must be benefited in any successful transaction.

It is now recognized that, unless there be in every transaction a spirit of cooperation, a spirit of "live and let live," a well-considered intention to render a service, business cannot endure and prosper.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is thoroughly devoted to these modern principles. How rigidly it adheres to them in word and deed, the public is well able to decide.

The people of the Middle West have good opportunity to judge the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Its products are products that are purchased often—in comparatively small quantities. They are apt to be purchased by the same customers in widely scattered places. If these products were not uniform—if they were to vary in quality—it would be discovered immediately. Each purchase carries the reputation of the Company with it.

More than four thousand Standard Oil Service Stations cover the ten states of the Middle West. They make it possible for the Company to serve its customers directly. Every week it comes into direct contact with the public many thousands of times. These frequent meetings give the people opportunity to judge of its sincerity and ability.

In every community this Company is a local institution. The druggist on the corner and the doctor up the street own its stock. The man in the next block has charge of one of its Service Stations. Owners and workers and customers are friends and neighbors. The people of the Middle West know it intimately.

Millions of purchases and countless contacts over a long period of years have built the reputation for dependability of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). In every community in the Middle West it enjoys a friendship and a confidence that are priceless. Its success has been success in serving.

Opposes Restrictions on Farm Marketing

Producer Gets but $1 Out of $3 Paid for Food, Says New York Railroad Executive.

Washington, March 26.—B. F. Yoakum, New York railroad executive, suggested today that Democrats insert in their platform this year a farm-relief plank to permit growers of each recognized crop to market their own commodity without government restriction.

This, he told the Woman's National Democratic club, would destroy the "un-American, damnable and mighty processes which is grinding down the farmer."

He said farm property values were decreased $23,000,000,000 in the last seven years while other property values have increased $50,000,000.

"In the entire country 19,000,000 food dealers and grocers helpers are living off a 32,000,000 farm population," Yoakum said. "Farmers get only $1 out of every $3 housewives pay for food. The remedy for this uneconomic condition is to permit farmers to market their own crops through self-appointed boards."

Prexy Has Too Many Titles; Trustee Quits

Rev. Lewis M. Hale Gives This As Reason for Resigning Position on William Jewell Board.

Liberty, Mo., March 26.—Because President H. C. Wayman of William Jewell College used too many degree letters after his name and because the board of trustees continued to uphold him, were the reasons assigned today by Lewis M. Hale, Baptist pastor of Springfield, Mo., for his resignation as a trustee last week.

Hale said President Wayman was not entitled to all the degrees. Hale's resignation was accepted.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Vance believes Skeel innocent of the murder of Margaret Odell and that he lay hidden in a closet while the strangler did his work. Markham ridicules the theory but Vance is unshaken. He shatters Cleaver's alibi of being out of the city the night of the murder and urges Markham to call Mannix in for questioning again. "You knod a Miss Frisbee," Vance said to Mannix. "When did you see her last? Take your time about answering. You may want to think it over."

CHAPTER 34

Mannix took his time. It was a full minute before he spoke, and then it was to put another question.

"Haven't I got a right to call on a lady—haven't I?"

"Certainly. Therefore, why should a question about so obviously correct and irreproachable an episode make you uneasy?"

"Me uneasy?" Mannix, with considerable effort, produced a grin. "I'm just wondering what you got in your mind, asking me about by private affairs."

"I'll tell you. Miss Odell was murdered at about midnight Monday. No one came or went through the front door of the house, and the side door was locked. The only way any one could have entered her apartment was by way of Apartment 2; and nobody who knew Miss Odell ever visited Apartment 2 except yourself."

At these words Mannix leaned over the table, grasping the edge of it with both hands for support. His eyes were wide and his sensual lips hung open.

But it was not fear that one read in his attitude; it was sheer amazement. He sat for a moment staring at Vance, stunned and incredulous.

"That's what you think, is it? No one could've got in or out except by Apartment 2, because the side door was locked." He gave a short, vicious laugh. "If that side door didn't happen to be locked Monday night, where'd I stand then—huh? Where'd I stand?"

"I rather think you'd stand with us—with the district attorney." Vance was watching him like a cat.

"Sure I would!" spat Mannix. "And let me tell you something, my friend; that's just where I stand—absolutely!" He swung heavily about and faced Markham. "I'm a good fellow, y' understand, but I've kept my mouth shut long enough . . . That side door wasn't locked Monday night. And I know who sneaked out of it five minutes to twelve!"

"Ca Marche!" murmured Vance, reseating himself and calmly lighting a cigaret.

Markham was too astonished to speak at once; and Heath sat stock still, his cigar half-way to his mouth.

At length Markham leaned back and folded his arms.

"I think you'd better tell us the whole story, Mr. Mannix." His voice held a quality which made the request an imperative.

Mannix, too, settled back in his chair.

"Oh, I'm going to tell it—believe me, I'm going to tell it.—You had the right idea. I spent the evening with Miss Frisbee. No harm in that, though."

"What time did you go there?"

"After office hours—half past five, quarter to six. Came up in the subway, got off at 72nd, and walked over."

"And you entered the house through the front door?"

"No. I walked down the alleyway and went in the side door—like I generally do. It's nobody's business who I call on, and what the telephone operator in the front hall don't know don't hurt him."

That's all right so far," observed Heath. "The janitor didn't bolt the side door until after six."

"And did you stay the entire evening, Mr. Mannix?" asked Markham.

"Sure—till just before midnight. Miss Frisbee cooked the dinner and I brought along a bottle of wine. Social little party—just the two of us. And I didn't go outside the apartment, understand, until five minutes to twelve. You can get the lady down here and ask her. I'll call her up now and tell her to explain the exact situation about Monday night. I'm not asking you to take my word for it—positively not."

Markham made a gesture dismissing the suggestion.

"What took place at five minutes to twelve?"

Mannix hesitated, as if loath to come to the point.

"I'm a good fellow, y' understand. And a friend's a friend. But—I ask you—is that any reason why I should get in wrong for something I didn't have absolutely nothing to do with?"

He waited for an answer, but receiving none, continued.

"Sure, I'm right.—Anyway, here's what happened. As I said, I was calling on the lady. But I had another date for later that night; so a few minutes before midnight I said goodbye and started to go.

"Just as I opened the door I saw some on sneaking away from the Canary's apartment down the little back hall to the side door. There was a light in the hall, and the door of Apartment 2 faces that side door. I saw the fellow as plain as I see you—positively as plain."

"Who was it?"

"Well, if you got to know, it was Pop Cleaver."

Markham's head jerked slightly.

"What did you do then?"

"Nothing, Mr. Markham—nothing at all. I didn't think much about it, y' understand. I knew Pop was chasing after the Canary, and I just supposed he'd been calling on her. But I didn't want Pop to see me—none of his business where I spend my time. So I waited quietly till he went out—"

"By the side door?"

"Sure.—Then I went out the same way. I was going to leave by the front door, because I knew the side door was always locked at night. But when I saw Pop go out that way, I said to myself I'd do the same. No sense giving your business away to a telephone operator if you haven't got to—no sense at all. So I went out the same way I came in. Picked up a taxi on Broadway, and went——"

"That enough!" Again Vance's command cut him short.

"Oh, all right—all right." Mannix seemed content to end his statement at this point. "Only, y' understand, I don't want you to think—"

"We don't."

Markham was puzzled at these interruptions, but made no comment.

"When you read of Miss Odell's death," he said "why didn't you come to the police with this highly important information?"

"I should get mixed up in it!" exclaimed Mannix in surprist. "I got enough trouble without looking for it—plenty."

"An exigent course," commented Markham with open disgust. "But you nevertheless suggested to me, after you knew of the murder, that Cleaver was being blackmailed by Miss Odell."

"Sure I did. Don't that go to show I wanted to do the right thing by you—giving you a valuable tip?"

"Did you see any one else that night in the halls or alleyways?"

"Nobody—absolutely nobody."

"Did you hear any one in the Odell apartment—any one speaking or moving about, perhaps?"

"Didn't hear a thing." Mannix shook his head emphatically.

"And you're certain of the time you saw Cleaver go out—five minutes to twelve?"

"Positively. I looked at my watch, and I said to the lady: 'I'm leaving the same day I came; it won't be tomorrow for five minutes yet.'"

Markham went over his story point by point, attempting by various means to make him admit more than he had already told. But Mannix neither added to his statement nor modified it in any detail; and after half an hour's cross-examination he was permitted to go.

"We've found one missing piece of the puzzle, at any rate," commented Vance. "I don't see now just how it fits into the complete pattern, but it's helpful and suggestive. And, I say, how beautifully my intuition about Mannix was veritied, don't y' know."

"Yes, of course—your precious intuition." Markham looked at his sceptically. "Why did you shut him up twice when he was trying to tell me something?"

"I simply can't tell you, old dear. Awfully sorry, and all that."

His manner was whimsical, but Markham knew that at such times Vance was at heart most serious, and he did not press the question. I could not help wondering if Miss La Fosse realized just how secure she had been in putting her faith in Vance's integrity.

Heath had been considerably shaken by Mannix's story.

"I don't savvy that side door being unlocked," he complained. "How the hell did it get bolted again on the inside after Mannix went out? And who unbolted it after six o'clock?"

"In God's good time, my sergeant, all things will be revealed," said Vance.

"Maybe—and maybe not. But if we do not find out, you can take it from me that the answer'll be Skeel. He's the bird we gotta get the goods on. Cleaver is no expert jimmy artist; and neither is Mannix."

"Just the same, there was a very capable technician on hand that night, and it wasn't your friend the Dude—though he was probably the Donatello who sculptured open the jewel-case."

"A pair of 'em, was there? That's your theory, is it, Mr. Vance? You said that once before; and I'm not saying you're wrong. But if we can hang any part of it on Skeel, we'll make him come across as to who his pal was."

"It wasn't a pal, Sergeant," said Vance. "It was more likely a stranger."

OUT OUR WAY — By Williams

Fine Spring Weather Has Its Drawbacks

Farmers Begin to Feel Need of Rain, and It's Too Warm to Work, Says Good Hope Writer.

GOOD HOPE.—The winter has passed and old Father Time has ushered in the fine spring days which have seemed more like summer. There is no question in the least that we have had a fine winter, with but little severe weather comparatively. There has been such little rain and snow that some folks are beginning to clamor for water. Many wells are low and the sloughs and ditches are dry.

The weather is really too warm for real comfort when working. Farming has been in full swing all around us—garden making, potato planting and those who haven't sowed their oats yet have been discing the ground getting ready to sow. Some think there is plenty of time yet. Some of us haven't forgotten a few years ago when the weather was so tempting that we hurried the oats into the ground and they sprouted nicely, but the weather turned cold and they froze.

The wheat, especially the wheat that was sown late, needs a little warm rain and it would be fine on pastures, they claim, providing a hard cold, wet and freezing time didn't come to spoil the efefcts of this warm rain.

Geo. Curry with the help of W. D. Jones and Geo. B. Ulmer, has pulled the hedge along the road north of the Curry house. A lot of these old hedge rows are being replaced by new wire fences.

There has been lots of sickness in the neighborhood and surrounding community but nothing so very serious. We are thankful to say just "that tired feeling" we hear so much about. Hard colds, that are hard to get rid of and they just keep a person dragging around neither well nor very sick.

Mrs. C. M. Pope went to Omaha nearly two weeks ago, and underwent an operation for a cararact on one eye. She is getting along nicely and is expected home about next Sunday, so we were told.

Mrs. John Morehouse went to Omaha last Sunday to see her sister, Mrs. C. O. Huffstutter, who was quite ill with the flue and pneumonia, but Friday she received word that Mrs. Huffstutter is getting better.

Clarence Duffield's mother from Illinois is visiting in his home now. Mr. Duffield, Clarence's father, died a year or more ago.

One week ago tonight, Ted Baldwin, teacher of the Highland school, gave a very nice little program, after which a box supper was held and lunch plates were sold. They contained a sandwich, pickle, fruit salad and slice of cake. The school house was nicely filled and the sales were fine. It was the second box supper this school year and they took in nearly $35, with but little expense. This money will be used toward the school improvement. Ted is a good teacher and we hear the school board has solicited his services for the next year, although he is not hired yet.

Miss Minnie Dowling went to Hopkins this evening to attend the high school play with her sister, Miss Francis, who is a high school pupils.

Miss Naomi Wilson and Margaret Holker spent the week-end with their sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holker, east of Pickering.

The chicken business is not a very big paying proposition, with feed so high and eggs also the chickens, so low in price, we hear it every day. It's so, too, but we can't help it. Nevertheless there are lots of eggs being set and quite a few baby chicks off. Not so many around in the locality as there were this time last year, but later on we believe the chicken yards will be full of little chickens. There will always be a market for the production of chickens and eggs and those who raise them will have plenty to use.

There is still Sunday school every Sunday at Good Hope, to which you are invited, and the first Sunday in April there will be preaching at 11 a. m. by the Rev. J. Howard Thompson, Hopkins. Come, every one.

The W. W. Club meets with Mrs. Laura Morehouse Thursday afternoon.

Spring Welcomed in Burlington Junction

Potatoes Planted, Oats Sown, Lawn mowers Are Dragged Out, and the Fish Suffer.

BURLINGTON JUNCTION. — Burlington Junction has welcomed spring just as much as other places have, thought little has been said concerning the welcoming.

Just the same, the fish are beginning to suffer and the sun's rays are being frustrated by the straw hats which have been brought forth a little bit early in the season. Seasonable or not, they were needed badly Friday.

The only thing that seems to be lacking this spring in Burlington Junction is kites, for as yet the writer has failed to see any such objects in the air.

Potatoes are being planted every day. Reports come in from the farmers concerning the sowing of oats, and most of them are sown. Early gardens are in and the lawnmowers are again being dragged out for use in the near future.

Everything is ready for summer with one exception, and that is the old swimming hole, which has not yet attained its usual popularity.

Any way summer is just around the corner.

Detective Stories to Hoover's Liking

New York, March 26.—A pastime of Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, during the hectic days of the Peace Conference, was working out plots for detective stories, it was recalled at the Hoover-for-President headquarters here.

One of the Commerce secretary's acquaintances said that Hoover, during his work in the American service abroad, had found relaxation in such thrilling mystery tales. Sometimes, it was recalled, he had even dropped a story that he considered not so good, and had devised in his own mind the way the plot should work out.

Hoover frequently promised in those days that after the Peace Conference was over he intended to write a detective story of his own.

If Back Hurts Flush Kidneys

Drink Plenty of Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, Mar. 26.—Unfavorable weather over most of the grain belt sent all grains into sharp advances on the Chicago board of trade today. Wheat led the upturn, going over 1 cents up, on reports of high winds and dust storms in Kansas. Corn was boosted by rains, which tend to check country marketing. Oats followed the bulge.

Corn led the bulge with advances of more than one cent, on rains that will probably check country marketing. Wheat advanced on reports of high winds and dust storms in Kansas winter wheat fields. Oats followed the bulge.

Final figures: Wheat ½c to ⅝c up; corn 1 to 1⅜c up and oats ⅛c to ½c up. Provisions closed slightly up.

Wheat went up just after the opening when the Kansas reports tightened up offerings in the pit and the bulls found it hard to buy. Nebraska reported fairly good rains over the week-end but the Kansas news offset this development. Receipts were heavy at 168 cars, but much of these were to fill March contracts and hence had no influence on the market.

Despite heavy receipts of 471 cars and a one cent drop in the cash market, corn advanced steadily all morning. The rains which had a bearish influence in wheat, boosted corn. Iowa points reported heavy snow and temperatures below freezing. Country receipts which have been so surprisingly heavy during the last week or so are expected to dwindle rapidly, with the rain and snow.

Oats was without feature, advancing mostly on reflected strength from other grains. Receipts were 73 cars and cash oats held unchanged.

FOUR CHOSEN FOR NATIONAL A. A. U. INDOOR MEET.

IN 1200 YARD RELAY

Cecil Smith, Frank Daniels, Wendell Culp and Pierce Tilley Are Bearcats Selected.

Four men were chosen to represent the State Teachers College in the relays, short dashes and hurdles races at the National A. A. U. indoor track meet to be held at St. Louis March 31, after the running of a 1200 yard relay on the College track Saturday afternoon.

Cecil ("Twister") Smith was clocked in the fast time by Coaches H. Frank Lawrence and E. A. Davis for the 300 yard lap taken by each of the seven men entered. Frank Daniels, Wendell Culp and Pierce Tilley followed in order to win places on the team for the St. Louis meet. The others who ran were Warren Max, Clarence Pugh and John Smith.

Coach Davis declined to announce the time in the 120 yard relay, but emphasized, that "it looked mighty good."

Smith, one of the swiftest sprinters at the State Teachers College and a former Ridgeway High School star, will be entered in the 50 yard dash and low hurdles at St. Louis.

Outside of Smith's races, Maryville men will be entered only in the relays. Intensive drill is scheduled for every day at the College.

Coach Davis said that Maryville will be represented in the Kansas relays, April 21, but that he did not know the men who would be entered. The medley and half mile events of this week have proved most attractive to the State Teachers College men thus far.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gray and children, Barbara, Mary Jane, and Edward, Anna Neilson, Mrs. R. E. Snodgrass, Doris Snodgrass, Mrs. Rebecca I. Gray, Mrs. Garnett Gray Watt and daughters, Virginia and Ruby Lucille, spent Sunday at Shenandoah.

Miss Catherine Tobin and Miss Claudia Garten were in St. Joseph yesterday.

Morris Chick, Charles Stanfield, Truman Nickerson, and John Curfman drove to St. Joseph yesterday.

Miss Tell.

Roland R. Witte, representative of the Horner-Witte Concert Bureau, through which the College obtained the entertainment tonight, declared before the Men's Monday Forum at noon today that the artists appearing here have been most popular in their other engagements this season.
